

For Amy

Chris says – A song about having your heart torn out by someone you adore

I know what the first line is meant to say
I wouldn't have to if you were here
You're sick and tired of being alone without
But you know i wanted more with you

I know we don't seem close anymore
But you're always here inside my mind
I shouldn't have left you the way i did
But the pain was killing me inside
I had it all with you

And no one knows you're going off today
I've heard it all from you
And no one knows you're going off

I bet you're lonely and I saw your face
I knew it all along
You know I wanted you but you're gone